- Book of the week: Children's Picture Atlas

Activity ideas: get a map and use push pins to identify where your family lives. Help your child locate where other family lives. Also locate places your family has visited!

- Weeks 35 & 36 (review weeks):

- I recommend using these last two weeks as a review over concepts that your child may not have caught onto as easily as others.
- Remember, it is perfectly okay if they have not remembered every single thing taught to them.
- Keep a journal or note of concepts that need additional work and use these as starting points for the next school year.

Optional Additions: Although I have not written them into each week, other additions can easily be incorporated into each week (seasons, holidays, more opposites, etc.).

Modifications: Don't hesitate to make modifications to this lesson plan. This is generally what I aim to do at the kindergarten level. I purposefully left off holiday-related themes, activities, and concepts to accommodate the varying families in the homeschool community.
